Additional Information

On August 16, 2010, the USAID Administrator approved the establishment of the independent Office of Afghanistan and Pakistan Affairs (OAPA) to support USAID programs in Afghanistan and Pakistan and to represent USAID in inter-agency committees, to the public, to Congress, and to other governments and partners. As the principal agency responsible for US Government (USG) development assistance in Afghanistan and Pakistan, USAID operates in a complex interagency structure, requiring close coordination with the Departments of State, Agriculture, and Treasury, and the U.S. military.

OAPA's Program Office provides leadership in strategic planning, budget planning and execution, congressional affairs and communications, audit coordination, and monitoring and evaluation, as well as corresponding technical support to USAID missions in Afghanistan and Pakistan.
