Project Description

We are hoping to create an activity to be used at the U.S. Department of State where we read an inflammatory or controversial statement aloud, and participants are asked to stand on a spectrum as to whether they "agree" or "disagree" with the statement. As we are the Office of Religion and Global Affairs, we are interested in statements made by current prominent world leaders that involve religion. If there are quotes that have to do with the intersection of religion and foreign policy, that would be ideal. We are hoping to collect 50 statements in total, from an identified reputable source, and the world leader would also need to be identified.
