Project Description

The Veteran Employment Services Office (VESO) is looking for undergraduate and graduate students to help craft stories for posting on the Vantage Point Blog. Somewhat longer than a typical Facebook or Twitter post, blog articles typically range above 500 words and include hyperlinks to relative resources, tags and appropriately sized and well-designed graphics. The incumbent must also work in collaboration with others to develop a robust content calendar, and may also be assigned to write content for our other social media profiles as necessary, to include LinkedIn and Facebook. You may also be asked to assist in crafting emails to send out to the more than 200,000 subscribers on our mailing list.
